

Special Advertising Section

Inspired by a home on the south coast of France, this stunning foyer features hand-scraped Oak hardwood floors with a mahogany border as well as a series of groin vaults with period-relevant lanterns. The linen sand walls and bright white window casings bring a fresh, light look to the home that extends into the great room.

BEST BUILDERS

This welcoming Tuscan kitchen is loaded with signature Old World accents including hand-painted ceramic tile backsplash, ornate hand-painted hood, marble countertops, custom cabinetry with antiqued stain finish, Wolf and Sub-Zero appliances, and Canterra stone flooring.

Serenity abounds in the outdoor courtyard thanks to a glass mosaic tile waterwall, provencal garden, masonry stucco wall and leuders, and sleek limestone flooring.

Step back in time in this custom home, reminiscent of an Italian castle where you will discover a truly unique, all-natural stone bathroom complete with antique mirror, light fixtures, and antiqued brass plumbing fixtures. The decorative glass sink adds a special "new meets old" touch to the room.

Tatum Brown Custom Homes

Tatum Brown homes are noticed for their subtle, yet exquisite sophistication with timeless elegance. This sought-after homebuilder is a well-regarded expert on blending new construction with the classic architecture of Dallas' well-established neighborhoods. Signature construction and design techniques yield a decidedly vintage quality in every Tatum Brown home, making it difficult to discern whether or not it is remodeled or new construction.

"A home should be uniquely your own and nurture your personal lifestyle," says Mark Danuser, president of Tatum Brown Custom Homes. "Our approach is different because we utilize the history and style of the neighborhoods in which we build. This gives our clients a new home that stands out—without sticking out."

"Tatum Brown homes have a different twist because Mark Danuser is open to ideas. He uses a more classic approach to aesthetics, and his homes have a feeling of permanence."
— Ann Kellogg, Schooler, Kellogg & Company

"We create timeless homes that not only have superior construction, but are also very livable. There is no formulaic floor plan applied to each house, but rather, we start from scratch for each one. I think it's that care that is evident in our finished product." — Mark Danuser, president, Tatum Brown Custom Homes

"Tatum Brown homes are so refined in craftsmanship, quality, and the style Highland Park originally started in 1912. Every single inch of the houses is useable; there's no wasted space. It provides the proportions that people want. Some large homes make people feel like they lose their family; this pulls everybody in." — Eleanor Mowery Sheets, Eleanor Mowery Sheets & Associates

Tatum Brown Custom Homes, a boutique custom builder, has more than 50 years of combined homebuilding experience. The company's emphasis is on premium residential custom homes for both private residential and speculative projects, as well as planning and design services for remodels and restorations. Superior craftsmanship and the ability to instill authenticity and comfortable elegance in every Tatum Brown home are the hallmarks of the company. Because the Tatum Brown team both lives and works in the Dallas area, they share a commitment to preserving the integrity of the local neighborhoods in which they build.

8100 Lomo Alto, Ste. 205
Dallas, TX 75225
214-361-4877
www.tatumbrownhomes.com